Foreword

In its efforts to prevent mental and emotional disorders and promote mental health, the National Institute of Mental Health provides a variety of informational materials to aid both practitioners and planners in the field, and individuals seeking help for themselves or for family members. The 1985 edition of the Mental Health Directory is a revised version of one of these tools. Its nationwide listing of mental health organizations and related resources serves as a guide to mental health services that are currently available throughout the United States. The listings should be of particular utility to mental health and other providers in facilitating patient referral.

BLANK PAGE

Mental Health Organizations and Services

This 1985 edition of the Mental Health Directory is intended to provide a central source of information on mental health organizations throughout the United States. Mental health organizations are defined as administratively distinct governmental, public, or private agencies or institutions that have as a primary objective the direct provision of mental health services to the mentally ill or emotionally disturbed. Mental health organizations include primary locations at which services are delivered (master organizations), as well as satellite organizations that are under the administration of the master organizations, but are located at different addresses and/or have different names (component organizations). Both types are shown in the directory by State and city within State, each arranged alphabetically. Within the directory, a differentiation is not made between a master organization and a component organization, nor are the two cross-referenced.

Sources of Data

Data provided for the individual organizations were collected through the Inventory of Mental Health Organizations, a nationwide 100 percent enumeration survey of speciality mental health organizations conducted in August 1982 by the Survey and Reports Branch, Division of Biometry and Epidemiology, NIMH, with the cooperation and assistance of each of the State mental health agencies listed separately at the end of this directory. Name, address, and telephone data have been updated since that time. In the 1982 Inventory, each master organization completed one form which included aggregate data for all of its component organizations. Separate data were not obtained for each component.

Types of Organizations

Types of organizations included in the directory are defined as follows:

An outpatient mental health clinic is an organization that provides only ambulatory mental health services. The medical responsibility for all patients/clients and/or direction of the mental health program is generally assumed by a psychiatrist.

A psychiatric hospital (public or private) is a licensed hospital that is primarily concerned with providing inpatient care to mentally ill persons.

A residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children (RTC) is an organization that must meet all of the following criteria:

- It is an organization, not licensed as a psychiatric hospital, the primary purpose of which is the provision of individually planned programs of mental health treatment services in conjunction with residential care for its patients/clients.
- It has a clinical program within the organization that is directed by a psychiatrist, psychologist, social worker, or psychiatric nurse who have master's and/or doctorate degrees.
- It serves children and youth primarily under the age of 18.
- The primary reason for the admission of 50 percent or more of the children and youth is mental illness that can be classified by DSM-II/ICDA-8 or DSM-III/ICD-9-CM codes, other than codes for mental retardation, substance (drug)-related disorders, and alcoholism.

A mental health day/night facility is a freestanding organization offering primarily day or night partial care.

A multiservice mental health organization is an organization that provides outpatient care and inpatient/residential treatment care in settings that are under the organization's direct administrative control. If inpatient/residential treatment and/or outpatient care are provided on behalf of the organization by other mental health organization(s) under contract or through affiliation agreement, the organization is not classified as a "multiservice mental health organization," but rather as some other organization type. Administrative control includes financial, staffing, clinical, and programmatic responsibility.

Community mental health center (CMHSs) may qualify as multiservice mental health organizations. In order to determine this, they are classified according to the additional criteria specified below:

- A CMHC, whether formerly federally funded or not, that meets the above criteria for a multiservice mental health organization and is not part of a general or a psychiatric hospital, is classified as a multiservice mental health organization and is included in the directory.
- A CMHC, whether formerly federally funded or not, that meets the above criteria for a multiservice mental health organization but is under the administration of a general hospital, is classified as a general hospital with a separate psychiatric service and is not included in this directory.
- A CMHC, whether formerly federally funded or not, that meets the above criteria for a multiservice mental health organization and is part of a psychiatric hospital is classified as a psychiatric hospital and is included in the directory.

Unlike the previous five organization types, the next three types are included only if they are component organizations.

A general hospital with separate psychiatric service(s) is a licensed hospital that has established organizationally separate psychiatric units with assigned staff for inpatient care and/or outpatient care and/or day treatment and/or partial hospitalization to provide diagnosis, evaluation, and/or treatment to persons admitted with known or suspected psychiatric diagnoses. If inpatient care is the separate psychiatric service, beds are set up and staffed specifically for psychiatric patients in a separate ward or unit. These beds may be located in a separate building, wing, ward, or floor, or they may be a specific group of beds physically separated from regular or surgical beds.

A residential treatment organization is an organization other than a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children that provides overnight care in conjunction with an intensive treatment program in a setting other than a hospital (e.g., residential treatment center for emotionally ill adults, alcohol abusers, drug abusers, mentally retarded adults, etc.).

A residential supportive organization is an organization that provides overnight care in conjunction with supervised living and other supportive services (e.g., halfway house, community residence, group home).

With the initiation of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Services Block Grant, NIMH discontinued the monitoring of formerly federally funded community mental health centers (CMHCs). Organizations formerly classified as CMHCs are now classified as one of the other organization types. Generally, CMHCs have been reclassified either as psychiatric outpatient clinics or as multiservice mental health organizations.

Type of Program Elements

Each organization (master or component) included in the directory provides services in one or more of five program elements that are defined as follows:

- Inpatient care — 24-hour care in a hospital setting.
- Residential treatment care — Overnight care in conjunction with an intensive treatment program in a setting other than a hospital.
- Partial care — A planned program of mental health treatment services generally provided in sessions of 3 or more hours to groups of patients/clients.
- Outpatient care — Mental health services to ambulatory clients/patients generally provided for less than 3 hours at a single visit, on an individual, group, or family basis, usually in a clinic or similar organization.
- Residential supportive care — Overnight care in conjunction with supervised living and other supportive services (e.g., halfway house, community residence, group home).

Organizations Included

Organizations included in the directory that were surveyed in the August 1982 Inventory or added since that time are as follows:

- All master organizations of the types defined above in which 50 percent or more of the patients/clients served have a primary diagnosis of mental illness or emotional disturbance.
- All component organizations that are under the administration of a mental health organization, even though the component itself may primarily serve a group other than the mentally ill, such as alcoholics, drug abusers, or the developmentally disabled.
- General hospitals providing psychiatric services, residential treatment organizations other than residential treatment centers for emotionally disturbed children, and residential supportive organizations are included only if they are components of a mental health organization.

Organizations Excluded

Organizations not surveyed in the August 1982 Inventory, and which are not included in the directory, are as follows:

- All master organizations in which 50 percent or more of the patients have a primary diagnosis other than mental illness (e.g., alcoholism, drug abuse, developmental disabilities).
- All components of such organizations regardless of the type of patient/client they primarily serve.
- Sheltered workshops, vocational rehabilitation agencies, day training facilities, and day schools.
- Residential supportive organizations (halfway houses, community residences, or group homes) that are independent and are not administered by a mental health organization.
- General hospitals that provide psychiatric services or multiservice organizations that are administered by such hospitals.
- Outpatient clinics and other organizations in which fees are retained by individual staff members.
- Nursing homes
- Emergency psychiatric services that are not administered by a mental health organization.
- Veterans Administration psychiatric services.
